Rook's Ramblings

Rook Younger

Through the first half of 2015, the Arizona Region of the PCA has conducted 26 events. That does not include PCA National or Region 8 events, or those hosted in neighboring zones, such as the Roadrunner Region's annual Fiesta New Mexico, which typically is attended by some AZPCA members every year.

Numbers, of course, are just numbers, and our goal as a club is not quantity, but quality experiences in all our activities. Most will agree, I believe, that our events are successful due to the great work put into their planning by our club volunteers.

AZPCA performance driving events are scheduled to start up again in the fall. Check the website for the Autocross and Driver Education schedules, which resume in September. Our fourth annual AZPCA Night at the Diamondbacks is coming up in August. It will be a particularly special occasion at the ballpark, when Randy Johnson's number 51 will be retired and those in attendance will receive a T-shirt marking the occasion. It's always a fun time with fellow club members at Chase Field. Bob Bandera has put together a great weekend in late August at the historic La Posada Hotel in Winslow. Go to the website for details on reserving your room, and come along for the scenic drive, the obligatory visit to the "Standin' on the Corner" photo op and, of course, socializing with your PCA friends at the charming and historic hotel.

I came across an article recently that lists "The 10 greatest sports cars of all time," as judged by Karl Brauer, a senior director at Kelley Blue Book. Brauer's list includes Lamborghini, Ferrari, Jaguar, Shelby Cobra, Corvette, and the Miata. But in his opinion, the Porsche 911 is the greatest sports car of all time, "remarkable, because he believes the car is an assembly of engineering design mistakes that should undermine its performance... It boasts a more impressive racing pedigree than any other road car ever produced, ... and its performance continues to set the bar by which all other sports cars are measured." Few of us Porschephiles would disagree.

To celebrate my birthday in May, Debbie and I took the Spyder out for a drive. The weather was perfect. We drove the twisties to Canyon Lake, past Tortilla Flat to where the road turns to dirt (in contrast to the road to the lake, the stretch past Tortilla Flat is smooth and largely unclogged by slow SUVs and trucks lugging boat trailers). On our way back past Tortilla Flat we resisted the urge to stop for ice cream at the General Store, in part because the parking is dirt/gravel only! Back to Apache Junction, where we were followed closely for a couple miles by one of Sheriff Joe's finest (no worries; I obey all traffic laws at all times. That is my story, and I'm sticking to it.). We headed up Usery Pass Rd/Bush Hwy to Saguaro Lake, where we stopped at the marina for a drink and a snack. As we admired the view overlooking the lake, the Thursday afternoon calm and quiet was broken by the sudden rush of about 20 very quick boats speeding across the lake, obviously to where their captains figured the fish would be hungriest. Fishing tournament. Mixing bursts of speed with patient durations waiting for the fish to cooperate. I get the speed part, and I appreciate the fact that when our events end we obsess over cleaning our cars instead of having to clean a bunch of stinky fish. From the lake we drove on to the Beeline back toward the Valley, through Fountain Hills to Rio Verde, then through North Scottsdale, Carefree, Cave Creek and back home. About 175 miles total. Long drive, but it's what we do. ☺

Let's go for a drive. We'll see you at an AZPCA event.

If you attended the June meeting at Daily Dose on June 3, you already know the news about the Writers Drawing. If you didn't, allow me to fill you in!

But first, some background. We often say that Going Places is the newsletter for AZPCA members, by AZPCA members. The articles are written and photos taken and submitted by a variety of our members. We don't have "staff" to assign to cover events. It is considered one of the responsibilities of an event chair to secure a volunteer to write an article about the event. If an event occurs and the event chair does not recruit someone to write an article for Going Places, and no one volunteers, writes, and submits an article on their own, the event will not be covered in the newsletter. It's as simple as that. If you've attended an event and were later disappointed to see it not covered in GP, this is why.

You probably have noticed that we do get a pretty good selection of articles most months. These are enjoyable to read and contain fun and interesting details. To encourage more of these creative articles, and to increase coverage of club events, we have started the Writer's Drawing. The drawing will be done at each monthly meeting and will include writers from the most recently published issue of Going Places. One name will be drawn, and that person will receive a complimentary dinner at a future monthly meeting. The winner of the drawing at Daily Dose was Bob Woodwell. Congrats, Bob!

Consider sharing with Going Places readers your experiences with your car or with club events. You might put a smile on someone's face, and you just might get a free dinner. Going Places is by YOU, and for YOU!

Just FYI, the website is still very functional for looking at, RSVPing for, and paying for, events. There is currently no "log in" feature, but if you click the link in each event to Motorsporstreg, you will be able to handle the details for each event. If you haven't done so lately, check out the events under the events button on the website az.pca.org. More are being added regularly.

 INTEGRITY ENERGY RESULTS

AUTOCROSS #9 RESULTS

by Kim Kemper and Rick Althouse

Here are the results for the Autocross on May 9, 2015. What a fantastic day - March temperatures in May! We had a great turn-out and quite a few new auto-crossers.

With all of the instructing, I felt like a kid at the roller coaster in an amusement park - with no lines! Congratulations to Dennis Riehle for setting Top Time Of Day with a scorching run.

Thanks to everyone who pitched in to set up and tear down the course! Your help is crucial for us running these events. We are taking a break for the summer months. Hope to see everyone again next season when we start up in September.

Enjoy your summer!

Best Regards,
Rick & Kim

PORSCHE TWO-SEATER FOUR-DOOR??

by Scott McIlvain

My wife, myself, and our two giant dogs have been spoiled by the room that our little PT Cruiser provided with the rear seats removed. Whether hauling sets of wheels and tires to the track, large pieces of wood or taking the two dogs to the dog park, the PT was always up to the challenge.

Now that we are a two Cayenne family (04 S & 05 Turbo) we needed a car that could be used to haul stuff around. I started out putting the rear seats down and quickly found that without moving the front seats forward, the rear seats folded would not work. So, I thought, why do I need the rear seats anyway. If we need to drive someone around, we will just take the turbo (nice problem to have).

So we started with folding the seat bases up and removing the bolts that hold the seat bracket to the chassis.

Next we removed the seat belt buckle receptacle and the seat backs.

Now that the seats are removed, we came up with a plan to pad and carpet the exposed areas. A quick trip to Walmart and I discovered an area rug that was about the size I needed with a color that was close to matching the rest of the interior.

I used a set of tin snips to cut it to size. Before I put the newly trimmed carpet in for the last time, I put a few old yoga mats down for padding.

So you can see from the final product, removing the rear seats frees up a lot of space for cargo and is completely reversible.

I can get two sets of wheel and tires in the back and the dogs are happy they have some space to move around.

MEET KIM KEMPER, AZPCA SECRETARY

by Susan Bookspan photos submitted by Kim Kemper

Anyone who knows Kim Kemper knows his true passion (besides wife Ellen, three children, one grandson and two Australian Shepherds) is auto cross (AX). Our club auto cross is top notch because Kim is in charge (with AX partner, Rick Althouse).

Kim was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, grew up in the south side of Chicago and went to high school and college in Dayton, Ohio and law school in Cincinnati. The Kemper family has been in Arizona for 13 years, moving from Salt Lake City. They also spent time in Denver, Dayton, Cincinnati and parts of Indiana.

Cincinnati was a favorite with its famous Skyline Chili. Now you can buy Skyline Chili right here in Arizona at Fry's. Another of Kim's mid-west favorites is the "aluminum room" hamburgers from White Castle.

Kim, a corporate attorney, retired on May 1st this year from Henkel, a German company that owns Loctite, Dial and other companies.

Kim and Ellen have been married since 1980 and have three children. Oldest son Kyle is married to Andrea and they have a son Kellen and live in Dallas. Daughter Katherine married to an EMT and recently graduated from ASU with a doctorate degree in medicine. Katherine's twin brother Joel is proposing to his girl friend on an upcoming trip to Las Vegas. This is a special surprise, so we hope this happens before this article is published. (See photo at left of Joel and Jo!) Katherine has a car fetish like her father, while Kyle prefers mountain bikes and Joel is about all getting great MPG.

PCA is lucky to have Kim as a member for the past six years. He bought a 2010 black Porsche Turbo and the love affair with Porsche began. He also bought a 2014 Cayman S which was traded in for a 2014 GT3 in Guards Red (of course) and a 2015 Chevy Silverado that he uses as a tow vehicle, Kim has previously owned and raced Corvettes and we understand he has a 2016 Corvette Z06 on order (red again, of course).

Kim's favorite PCA activity is autocross. Drivers Ed is OK, but it's not AX! Kim also races SCCA and he still competes at local Corvette Club AX events. He has driven at Road Atlanta, Roebing Road, Sebring, and Mid Ohio.

The Kempers are looking forward to a driving trip in Germany this fall. They will be driving through Germany for two weeks in a new 911, with the last two days at the Porsche Museum and 911 assembly/manufacturing site. Lots of PCA members can look forward to hearing all about this special trip. After that trip, Ellen is hoping to take a trip to Hawaii. Having this in print will help make this second trip happen.

Grandson Kellen gets an early start!

PAYSON/CAMP VERDE DRIVE

Alpine Touring, Arizona Style

by Bob Tomlin photos by Chuck Brasile

Imagine driving your Porsche on a beautiful clear sunny day up into the Dolomites for lunch at a welcoming Italian restaurant. Well, with a bit of mind juggling it was close!

Our May Sunday ride had most of the ingredients. Clear blue skies, 74 F temperature, nineteen pristine Porsches and the twisting Bee Line highway up from the Scottsdale valley floor to the, 6,000 feet above sea level mountain town of Payson.

What a fantastic road, and the vistas that take your breath away. The well divided two lane highway snakes up through the mountains offering expansive views of terrain covered with rocky formations, tall Saguaro cactus and yellow blossomed Palo Verde trees. As we neared Payson we could even see snow on the towering Mogollon rim of the Continental shelf 30 miles away. Well it really looked like the Dolomites!

Everyone drove at chosen speed but surprisingly we all seemed to arrive at the restaurant after the sixty mile spin pretty much together. What a sight the wide selection of colors and models of Porsches made, parked in the brilliant alpine sunlight. A real “photo op,” and a lot of head turning from other patrons.

Gerardo’s Firewood Café is a highly recommended Italian family restaurant and they made us very welcome. Forty hungry Arizona Region PCA members sat down to a four course pre arranged meal allowing us all to sample two types of Pizza, two different salads, two meat and pasta dishes and dessert. They make their own Italian sausage in house! All ingredients were fresh and delicious.

Finally the dessert. Canolli of course and Zeppole mini donuts. It was a gastronomic Tour de Force, with many tastes new to me. Very tasty and satisfying. Molto Bene!

The owner, and his very friendly staff came to our tables and thanked us for coming. A nice touch. They received a well earned round of applause of course.

Some carried on to drive a loop north through beautiful pine forests. Reaching Camp Verde then turning south on Interstate 17 and heading home south. Others, including Nancy and I, chose to enjoy the Beeline highway back to the Valley, arriving home after 205 miles. What a great day.

A big Thank you to our event hosts, Gary and Penny Solem. And to all of you that joined us and made it special.

Good driving, good friends, good food, and Porsches!

Doesn’t get any better than that does it?

Gerardo's Firewood Cafe in Payson and their friendly waitstaff and talented kitchen staff made our visit very special. There was no shortage of delicious food to try, and no one went home hungry!

Cinco De Mayo

Cinco De Mayo 2015

by Jack Aman photos by Barb Crowley and Jim Roberts

The Cinco de Mayo concours, sponsored by the PCA Southern Arizona Region, is an annual event that many Arizona Region PCA members enjoy attending. It typically works out pretty well for the members who enter the concours itself – and 2015 was no exception!

All of the Arizona Region members who entered a car to be judged won a trophy, and three won more than one trophy. Jack and Loretta Aman and Jim Roberts volunteered as judges.

The concours site was at the Tucson Country Club. It was a beautiful setting next to a golf course, on grass with trees and a view of mountains in the background. There was also a Porsche Tractor and many other great cars on display. Lunch was served on the patio overlooking all the beautiful cars. The banquet was inside, where many door prizes were won.

Other questions? Please contact event chair Bob Woodwell at rgwoodwell@yahoo.com

HOW CAN I HELP?

Concours: We need helpers for many jobs at the concours. These include scoresheet runners, timers, and parking assistants. Contact Jack Aman at jlaman914@cox.net to get more information.

Silent Auction: We need volunteers to set up the day of the banquet, but MOST IMPORTANTLY we need your donations of items for the auction! It's not too early to start getting these. Think of asking every restaurant, nail salon, beauty shop, exercise studio and so on that you patronize to donate an item or a gift card that can be auctioned. Consider something you could personally donate, such as a framed photograph or other artwork, or a new, never-used small appliance still in the box. The item does NOT have to be Porsche related, although it can be. Contact Gary Solem at gsolem@gmail.com for more information.

MINOR CHANGES PROPOSED FOR AZPCA BYLAWS

UNBRIDLED EXCESS

by Danielle Badler

I've been thinking a lot lately about unbridled excess.

What got me started were news reports about the spring art auction season in New York, where a record was set for the most expensive work of art ever sold at auction... a Picasso painting called Les Femmes d'Alger (Version "O"). For $179.4 million.

That was followed by the most expensive sculpture, Giacometti's L'Homme au Doigt, which went for $141.3 million.

According to the e-newsletter Quartz, the dizzying prices are being driven, at least in part, by Asian and Russian billionaires... and tactics by the auction houses to offer price guarantees to the owners.

Quartz says us mere mortals shouldn't worry. Only a small, closed club of super-rich can play. And the bidding is a way for them to boost their "prestige." Or, put another way, it's a way for them to say to each other that theirs is bigger than yours, or mine, or anyone else's.

The money, itself, really doesn't mean anything. Which is hard to fathom. But it's not unlike Jeff Bezos spending $200 million to buy the Washington Post. I mean, he wrote a check.

No, Quartz points out, the real shame is that the higher the prices go, the greater the likelihood that the paintings will vanish into private homes or, heaven forbid, secure warehouses, rarely to be seen again. Which is why the artists made them in the first place.

It's not unlike the collector car market, is it?

I recall reading about Ralph Lauren's Bugatti Type 57SC, about how, if they run it for longer than, maybe, a few minutes, the engine has to be completely re-detailed.

How much longer will we see a Ferrari 250 GTO actually moving under its own power? Or even see one at all? If the market rate for one today is plus or minus $50 million, and climbing, how much longer until they, too, will be sequestered in giant safes?

Or a Bugatti Royale? Or any blue chip classic? And if that's the start of the trend, how soon will it trickle down to your run of the mill Gullwing? Or 427 Cobra? Or 917?

No, beyond a certain point, classic cars in private collections will be locked away, just like paintings, in private warehouses. Waiting for another oligarch with unlimited funds to come along and move it to their private warehouse.

What a shame.

But then there's this guy, Paul Bailey. He's a Brit. First he bought a McLaren P1. Then he drove it to pick up a Ferrari LaFerrari. And then, together with his wife, he drove over to pick up a Porsche 918 Spyder as well.

That's right, all in the same day. The trifecta of modern supercars.

And he videotaped the whole thing. How do I know? I watched the video, through Mo-torAuthority, which got it from SupercarDRIVER.

And the guy provides a commentary on the video, about the similarities and differences between the vehicles, and what it's like to be behind the wheel.

According to MotorAuthority, Bailey and his wife were co-owners of a communications company that they sold for north of $40 million.

Yeah, that's not pocket change. But it's hardly enough to raise a paddle for a 250 GTO, or a Picasso.

The article says Bailey "does his best to share (his cars) with the world in videos like these. Bailey is also a member of a group that raffles off rides in his cars, and the mon-ey supports worthy causes."

Well, that's special. But why do I have this vague discomfort about the whole thing? What am I supposed to think? Jealousy? Envy? Sure, he's giving back, but aren't his actions a bit over the top?

And, speaking of over the top, take the annual fund-raising dinner for the Robin Hood Foundation in New York.

Do you know about that event? Each year it sets a record for the amount of money collected for a "worthy cause" in one night. Because the audience is all hedge fund gazillionaires, people who can write a seven or eight figure check and not think twice about it. So bully for them.

I had a brush with it all, a few years ago. I was walking along and I saw -- no, I heard this sound -- I turned, and there it was, a Bugatti Veyron, in motion. I followed, on foot, and saw that it was pulling up to a hotel.

By the time I got up to the car, triple black, there was no driver in sight. I asked the doorman, who was driving? I fully expected the name of some sports or rock celebrity.

But he shrugged. He answered, this way, exactly: "Just some guy. Who went on into the hotel."

What do you know. Some guy. Some rich guy.
